

DDT Fogging Will Continue Over Canyon

DDT spraying in Canyon was not completed when the fogging machine was here two weeks ago, states Dr. Robt. P. Jarrett, city health officer.

The spraying machine had only enough of the chemicals to do a small part of the town. As a result spraying was done only around the square around the college, at Taylor & Sons Country Store, and at the Fred Scott slaughter house south of Canyon.

Dr. Jarrett states that the fogging machine will return twice during the summer and will cover the entire town. He hopes to receive notice in advance so that all citizens may open their windows and doors in order to get full benefit of the spray.

If it is impossible to send advance notice of the coming of the machine, it is suggested that all citizens notify their neighbors when they see that the machine has started operation, and that all home owners open up their houses in order to get full benefit of the spray.

The spray will kill all insects, but it is not harmful to animal life.

In the meanwhile, all citizens are urged to cut the weeds and wipe out all breeding places for disease and flies.

Rains, Short Crop Causes Wheat Harvest to be Slow

Harvest in Randall county is moving very slow. Elevator men say that the short crop and rains, which have fallen, especially east of Canyon, have caused wheat that was about ripe to green up with suckers that will have to die before harvest can get going well.

The rain and electrical storm on Saturday night brought 41 of moisture in Canyon. More than an inch of rain was reported at various places in the county.

July 1 is the date now set by elevator operators when they expect wheat to begin rolling in a steady flow.

On Wednesday morning the Consumers Elevator had shipped one car of No. 3 wheat. At the same time the Farmers Elevator had not shipped any, but had about a half car of No. 1 wheat that had been brought in.

Wednesday morning the price in Canyon was $2.03 per bushel.

Newsman To Open New Program Over KAMQ Sunday p.m.

Clyde Warwick, publisher of the Canyon News, will be the first newspaper man to be interviewed by George Young on a new series of programs over KAMQ, 1010 kcs. on Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. The program is designated "The Hometown Editor." Mr. Young started Panhandle Main Street over another radio station and the Canyon publisher was heard on that program three times.

Since the transcription for the first program was made two weeks ago listeners will find a considerable amount of the material used on this program to be some what out-of-date, especially that part which refers to the Texas Press Association convention, which has already passed, and the New Mexico Press Association which will be held this week end.

School District Sells Bonds and Refunds Others

At a meeting of the Canyon Independent School Trustees Monday night, the $75,000 bond issue which was recently approved by the voters of the district was sold to the First Texas Corporation of San Antonio.

The interest rate for the first 10 years was set at 2 3/4%, and on the second 10 years the rate will be 3 1/4%.

The State Education Department has the authority under the law to take the entire issue at the lowest interest rate offered by the bonding company. It is likely that the State will take the entire issue at the low rate.

At the same time, the trustees are seeking to refund the $109,000 bonds which are outstanding against the district. These bonds were sold to the Central Investment Company of Dallas, with the understanding that the State Education Department would release these bonds. This department now holds the bonds, which draw 4% interest. The Dallas firm bid 297% on the issue, which is 1.03% under the prevailing rate of interest which the district is now paying on the $109,000 outstanding bonds.

A force of men is working on the buildings which have been moved to the campus, and the new construction will be ready for use of the high school students by the time school opens in the fall.

Harris M. Cook Is Given $900 By the Rotary Convention

DR. HARRIS M. COOK

Past District Governor Harris M. Cook was given a check for $900 by the Rotary District Convention recently held at Big Spring. This gift was in appreciation of the splendid work that Harris performed while he served as district governor. At that time he was a member of the West Texas State College faculty, and was dean of men. He became ill while serving the district, and has been under treatment at the Veterans Hospital in Amarillo a greater part of the time since he was stricken.

J. W. Shook was in charge of the Rotary Club program Tuesday, introducing Otis Crowell, line coach of the Buffalo football team. Mr. Crowell has just attended a school for car drivers held in Austin. The State Education Department has approved the plan for giving credit in the public schools for those who take the course.

Users of the highways a few years hence are the school students of today, and therefore they should be trained in the proper methods of driving cars.

T. S. Stevenson will furnish a car to be used in the educational program. Each student will study driving for 30 hours; during the period he will ride and observe for 6 hours; and will drive the car for 2 hours.

Last year 156 school children were killed in Texas.

Accidents just don't happen, stated the speaker. Accidents are caused. 15% of the accidents are due to faulty roads; 15% due to faulty vehicles; 70% are due to human deficiencies, such as carelessness, fast driving, failing to observe traffic laws, etc. It is determined that 80% of the car accidents are caused by 15% of the persons who drive cars.

Texas started to issue drivers' licenses in 1935. At that time no tests were given, and no tests have been required upon renewals. 68% of those who are taking the tests today fail upon their first application. Since 1936 there has been an increase of 100% in the death of school children by car accidents. Property loss in car accidents total 3 1/2 billion dollars annually.

Dallas has the best training course for drivers in Texas, and has the best driving record.

One out of every six persons in the United States is employed in transportation, cars, busses, railroads, planes. This is one of the largest industries in the nation.

Car accidents have increased since the war, with a smaller number of vehicles in operation. During the next three months, 15 children per month will be killed in Texas, with 90% of them being crushed as parents back their cars from the garage. Neglect of safety rules is a large cause of car accidents.

Utah has the best accident record among the states of the union. The larger states have real problems.

The campaign for safe driving is sponsored by schools, automobile association, public officials and industry.

More rigid enforcement is needed, with jail sentences for violators, is the consensus of opinion among the students of traffic accidents, stated Mr. Crowell.

Uniform signs, lights, and speed limits throughout the nation are being studied and will be made effective as soon as practicable.

Visitors were: Dr. F. L. Shannon of Denton; John T. Vincent of Notre Dame, Indiana; Dr. Samuel B. Johnson of Canyon; Hugh Clearman of Hereford; Frank S. Clark of Ansonia, Conn.; Dr. A. M. Meyer, Horace Griggs, Arch B. Hunsley, H. C. Vincent, Jim Rountree, Lahroy C. White, all of Amarillo.

Randall county dropped from 26th to 28th place among the counties of the state on the sale of bonds. Of the 27 counties which are leading Randall, 13 have exceeded their quotas.

County Chairman R. H. Wright is calling upon all citizens of the county to make their purchases of Savings Bonds before June 30 in order to meet or exceed the quota set for Randall county.

Mrs. Brotherton was the daughter of a Confederate soldier who gave his life for that cause just before her birth. She was born Martha Jones Hampton on July 8, 1862 in Lincoln County, Tenn.

She was married to E. L. Brotherton in 1878. He died on August 20, 1899, leaving her the responsibility of rearing seven children.

Griffith and E. L. Brotherton, both of Lockney. She is also survived by 15 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at the Lockney Methodist Church Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, conducted by Rev. R. H. Campbell, pastor of the Lockney church, who was assisted by Rev. O. B. Herring and Rev. W. B. Vaughn, both former pastors. Interment was in the Lockney cemetery.

Many New Men Join Company E To Evade Draft

Many young men are joining Company E, National Guard unit, in order to escape the draft when the bill is signed by resident Truman.

The company now has about 50 enlisted men, and more are coming in daily.

Under the terms of the draft measure which is now pending, all members of the National Guard Units may stay at home and receive their military training with the home unit. Young men who are eligible for the draft and have not signed up for the National Guard will be subject to the draft and will be forced to go to a military center for their training.

It is reported that President Truman will defer action on the bill in order that all National Guard units may secure as large an enlistment as possible.

Coke Continues To Hold Lead in Race For Senate

Although his percentage lead was reduced by the entrance of Lyndon Johnson, former governor Coke Stevenson continues to hold a large majority of a little less than 50% of the voters of Texas. George Peddy holds a poor third place.

It is predicted that a run-off might be necessary between Stevenson and Johnson. However, a substantial loss of votes by Peddy to Stevenson could make it possible for him to win in the first primary election.

OUR DEMOCRACY—by Mat

WHAT MAKES AMERICA TICK?

WE TAKE FOR GRANTED, OTHERS MARVEL AT, THIS COUNTRY OF OURS—ITS TREMENDOUS PRODUCTIVITY—THE LIVING STANDARDS AND THE FREEDOMS OUR PEOPLE ENJOY. HOW HAVE WE ACHIEVED THESE THINGS? HOW DO WE KEEP GOING FORWARD?

THE ANSWER LIES, NOT ALONE IN OUR NATURAL RESOURCES NOR IN OUR GEOGRAPHIC LOCATION, THOUGH THESE HAVE HELPED.

—RATHER IT IS IN THE CHARACTER OF OUR PEOPLE—THEIR INDUSTRY, THEIR INITIATIVE AND SELF-RELIANCE; AND IN THE FORM OF OUR GOVERNMENT, WHICH HAS ENCOURAGED, NOT HAMPERED, THE FREE PLAY OF THESE QUALITIES OVER THE LIFETIME OF OUR REPUBLIC. CONSISTENTLY, WE HAVE PROVIDED INCENTIVE AND REWARD FOR INDIVIDUAL EFFORT—HAVE FOSTERED VOLUNTARY THRIFT—FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF THE PEOPLE AND THE NATION.

Bishop P. F. Garber
To Speak on Methodist Hour

Bishop Paul Neff Garber of Geneva, Switzerland will be the speaker on the Methodist Hour Sunday morning, June 27th. Bishop Garber will use for his subject, "New Doors to Old Homes."

Bishop Garber, a native of Virginia and a former Dean of the Divinity School, Duke University, Durham, N. C., has for the past four years been in charge of the Geneva Area of The Methodist Church. His work has been that of re-establishing the work of The Methodist Church in Europe. These churches, most of the ministers and almost all of the buildings felt the damaging effects of the recent World War. His was the responsibility of working with men who had been imprisoned for their faith, who carried on their backs the scars of beatings and concentration camps, yet who had in their hearts the love of a living Christ for all mankind, even their enemies.

Bishop Garber's Episcopal Area covers the work of The Methodist Church in Belgium, Czechoslovakia, North Africa, Switzerland, Bulgaria, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Poland and Spain.

This sermon of Bishop Garber's closes the series of Methodist Hour sermons on the Southern Religious Radio Conference for the year 1948. Programs on this independent network will be presented during July and August by the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. with other denominations being heard during the fall.

This broadcast may be heard over Radio Station KGNC at 7:30 on Sunday morning.

Navy Muzzled? Is Question Being Asked

The Buffalo Evening News recently ran a long news story and a feature editorial on a matter which is vital to a sound national defense—yet which, apparently, is little understood by either Congress or the American people.

The editorial carries the descriptive title "The Story Navy Couldn't Tell." It deals with the controversy over the relative combat merits of land-based versus carrier-based aircraft. During the hearings on our military expansion program, the Air Force and the Army have insisted that carrier-based planes have largely outlived their usefulness and that huge, land-based bombers are capable of performing any conceivable mission. The Navy's side of this controversy was never clearly presented. According to the Evening News, "The implication is clear: The Navy has been muzzled by the Air Force, apparently with the backing of the Army and the Administration high command."

The News then goes on to sum up the Navy's flying achievements in the Pacific war—and it's a story that should be known to every American.

Naval aviation, including the Marine corps, destroyed 15,401 Japanese planes, as against 10,343 for the Army Air Forces. Eighty per cent of the Navy's total were destroyed by carrier-based planes—and of these, 93 per cent were Japanese land-based craft. That means that our carriers planes alone got rid of 19 per cent more enemy planes than did the Army Air Forces.

For every one of our carrier planes lost in combat, 14 enemy planes were shot down. This 14-to-1 combat superiority compares with a ratio of about 7-to-1 for land-based Navy and Marine planes and 5-to-1 for the Air Forces.

Finally, U.S. carrier planes destroyed 5,649 enemy aircraft on the ground, as against 2,981 so accounted for by the Army Air Forces.

To quote the News again, "Naval aviation, and especially carrier-based aircraft, played the major role in the winning of American supremacy in the Pacific war—and thereby demonstrated the vital importance of Naval air power in any future war strategy. . . . If Congress doesn't know what Naval aviation has done and can do, it's time it found out. And it also had better be inquiring who tied a gag on the Navy—in flagrant violation of the spirit of the unification program."

This country's security depends upon the balanced development of all the arms. Both carrier-based and land-based aircraft have vital roles to play. The kind of inter-service jealousy that exaggerates the achievements of one while it attempts to minimize the deeds of another cannot be tolerated.

Secretary of State Marshall has a scheme to prove Stalin's peace offers are lies. Marshall has ordered U.S. Ambassador to Russia Walter Bedell Smith to begin negotiations for the settlement of long-standing disputes such as wartime lend-lease debts, return of the Free City of Trieste to Italy and return of civil aviation controls to Soviet satellite nations. Marshall has no real hopes for success and will use the expected failures to prove settlement of graver questions amicably is now impossible.

Gov. Phil M. Donnelly of Missouri will nominate Truman. Although he thinks Truman is a weak sister and although he sides with the Southern revolution, Donnelly has promised Democratic Chairman Howard McGrath to lay it on heavy in his nominating speech.

Gives You Texas

Like everything else, oil rushes these days are "streamlined."

One of the "hottest spots" on the oil map of Texas today centers around Eastland.

You can walk out of the Connelley Hotel lobby, step into a car and, in a few minutes, glide over a paved road to the northwest part of the county where old wells of the big boom of 30 years ago are being deepened to a new pay or you can drive over a modern road in the other direction to the southeastern part of the county where there are some two dozen wells in the new Kirk pool.

How different to the travel conditions in the Eastland County rush of 1918-20! Roads were blinding with dust or deep in mud and traffic moved along at a snail's pace much of the time because of the long lines of wagons loaded with pipe.

In those days, Jess Willard was the world's heavyweight champion. He and Frank Day who is still active in the oil business in Eastland were partners. They set out to drive to one of their wells and met a wagon that would not pull over and give them part of the road so Day, who was driving the car, slightly side-swiped a mule.

With a bellow, the teamster and his two husky companions piled off the wagon. Willard and Day likewise alighted. Day was a powerful man—220 pounds of brawn and sinew—but the gigantic Willard waved him back and advanced to fight all three, single-handed. Willard was "much of a man"—six feet, four and 240 pounds.

Suddenly, the leader of the trio stopped and asked, "Ain't you Jess Willard?"

"Yes."

The other exclaimed, Good heavens, boys, it's the world's champion! And they jumped back on the wagon and pulled clear over into the ditch.

Gone now are the alternate mud and dust, when it sometimes took eight hours to travel 30 miles. The oil rush in Eastland County today is streamlined.

There's still nothing a woman would rather say than "charge it."

Amarillo Musicians Gave Program at the Lions Club Lunch

Members of the Canyon Lions Club were delightfully entertained at the luncheon meeting last Thursday, in the appearance of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dill of Amarillo. Mr. Dill is head of the Amarillo College Conservatory of Music. Mrs. Dill, organist and accompanist, greatly enhanced the program with her sympathetic and discriminating work at the piano.

This noted tenor is a newcomer to this region. Trained in opera, oratorio, and concert work at Northwestern University, Mr. Dill was selected to take over his duties as Dean of the Conservatory last spring term. In a well-chosen group of songs, the soloist demonstrated his great flexibility of range, his colorful and varied repertoire, his sustained, virile power, and his scintillating brilliance of tone, particularly in the upper register.

His first number (Mountains, by Rasbach) was heartily received for its irresistible challenge. Shifting quickly to a lighter vein, his second number (Shortenin' Bread, by Wolfe), elicited still more enthusiasm. Two numbers from the immortal and perennial favorite Victor Herbert (Ah! Sweet Mystery of Life, from Naughty Marietta, and Thine Alone) were sung with deep pathos and finesse. The concluding number (Serenade, from The Student Prince, by Romberg) brought a spontaneous and unrestrained ovation. Insistent demands for a reappearance greeted the singer on every hand, whose unique voice and refreshing manner are sure to sustain his ever-increasing popularity.

Modernistic Folks Aid Lonely Hermit

AKRON, O.—Although Elias Swarthouth, the hermit of Northampton township, north of here, is against most modern conveniences, including electric razors, safety razors, straight razors and shears, it was the modern generation that came to his aid when his home blew over.

The 86-year-old recluse lived most of his life in Northampton township, and 50 years in nearly the same location.

He did not live in exactly the same spot because once his home was burned out and he moved to the barn, which recently was tossed around somewhat by a big wind.

The ancient barn was lifted from its foundation and tilted to a 45-degree angle with the aged man trapped inside.

When the barn rolled back, his coal stove, a quantity of canned goods, his bed and a half dozen pet cats joined Swarthouth in the corner.

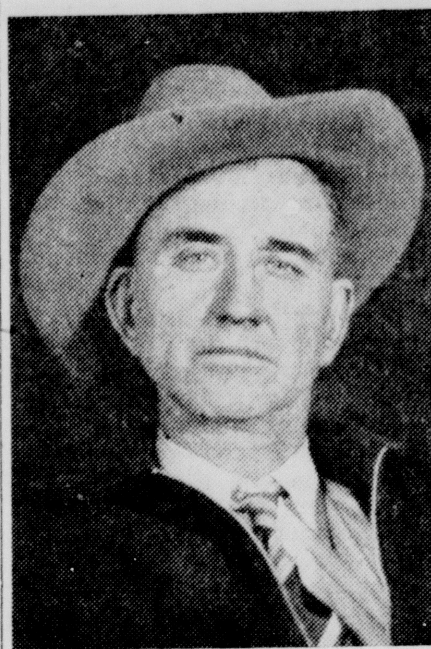

Everything, Swarthouth included, stayed there several hours until the Northampton volunteer fire department came to his rescue with an ax and chopped open the door. He was unhurt.

Township residents tried to put the barn back onto the foundation.

The big blow, however, was too gusty and the volunteers decided to tear down the structure and use the lumber to build a small house.

Swarthouth, half a century ago, was the champion hay pitcher of the county, despite an injury that made his arms stiff.

Just before the turn of the century, Swarthouth nursed a distant relative through a dangerous illness and out of gratitude the relative told Swarthouth he could live in the relative's home rent free the rest of his life.

It is a very general notion, largely the result of propaganda, that Georgia soils were impoverished by the growing of cotton. Actually, cotton does not impoverish the land if good farming practices are adopted. —Tom Linder, Georgia Agriculture Commissioner.

Ida Brandt Becomes Bride of Harry Birkenfeld at Umbarger

Umbarger—(Special to the News) On June 1, prior to the 8:00 o'clock Mass in St. Mary's church, Miss Ida Elizabeth Brandt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Brandt, became the bride of Harry Sylvester Birkenfeld, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Birkenfeld of Nazareth.

Father Andrew Marthaler officiated at the double-ring ceremony and the Mass servers were Albert Hartman and Jimmy Sharke.

The main altar was decorated with white peonies and the side altars with red roses.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Bob Kleman, sister of the bridegroom, and Pauline Higgins. Mrs. Kleman was gown in aqua satin made with a fitted bodice which was shirred all over, and a full, gathered skirt. Her headdress was a halo of blue and gold horsehair braid with yellow and blue flowers across the crown. She carried an arm bouquet of blue lilies.

Miss Higgins wore a gown of yellow taffeta fashioned with a fitted bodice, pointed at the waist and a full, gathered skirt. Her headdress was a halo of white and gold horsehair braid with blue and yellow flowers across the crown. Her bouquet was yellow lilies.

The bridegroom's best man was Herman Birkenfeld, his twin brother. Miss Higgins' escort was Jack Brandt, brother of the bride.

The bride was radiant in a gown of white satin designed with a sweetheart neckline which was outlined with crystal beads and miniature pearls. The long sleeves came to a point over her wrists. The fitted bodice was shirred in front and buttoned down the back with tiny satin-covered buttons. The skirt was full gathered. Her two-tiered veil was held in place by a bonnet with a sweetheart brim banded with orange blossoms and edged with a net ruffle.

The bride's only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, and her bouquet was pink rosebuds surrounded by white carnations.

For something old and borrowed, the bride carried a tiny silver heart which belongs to Miss Higgins. For something blue she used a blue ribbon to tie the silver heart into her bouquet.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Brandt chose a navy blue dress. Her corsage was of white carnations. Mrs. Birkenfeld, mother of the bridegroom, chose a green sheer floral dress. Her corsage was white carnations.

At noon a wedding dinner was served to the bridal party, Father Marthaler, and close relatives of the bridal couple.

In the afternoon a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents for all the relatives of the couple. The three-tiered wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom, was decorated with yellow roses. On either side of the cake were candles in crystal holders with yellow and aqua ruffles at the base of the candles. After the bride and groom had cut the first piece of the cake, Mrs. T. J. Rossan, sister of the bride, cut and served the cake. In the evening, a dance was given in the parish hall.

After a wedding trip to Las Cruces, New Mexico and Jurez, Mexico, the couple is at home on a farm near Nazareth.

The bride is a graduate of Canyon high school. The bridegroom graduated from Nazareth high school and served with the army for two years, part of which was spent in the Pacific theater.

Those who assisted with the dinner and reception were Mrs. Henry Bracht, Mrs. Paul Artho, and Mrs. Vincent Friemel, and Misses Alice Irbeck and Rita Westholl.

You Name it... the 'Jeep' does it

THE UNIVERSAL 'Jeep' DOES MORE FOR THE FARMER THAN ANY OTHER VEHICLE

● With 4-wheel drive for traction and steady pulling power in the field, the "Jeep" has a drawbar pull of 1200 lbs., operates almost any standard tilling or harvesting implement. Rear power take-off runs power-driven implements from standard spline shaft drive.

● The "Jeep" can be used with the latest development in modern farming—a new hydraulic lift that raises, lowers or adjusts depth of implement while the operator remains comfortably seated. And of course it handles conventional pull-type implements, too.

● The Universal "Jeep" is for hauling and towing on or off the road in all kinds of weather. It carries up to 1200 pounds, pulls a braked load of 2½ tons at highway speeds.

● It provides mobile power anywhere on the farm, for operating many types of power-driven equipment such as separators, feed grinders, buzz saws, hammer mills, ensilage cutters and numerous others.

This message gives but a glimpse of the all-around, year-round usefulness of the Universal "Jeep". We invite you to see this versatile vehicle in action and let us prove that it does more different jobs than any other single farm vehicle. Call for a demonstration now—on your farm, with your equipment.

America Is Not Backward As Is Socialist Claim

All the proponents of socialism, communism and the other what-have-you isms argue that their systems offer the "common man" greater security and material benefits. As Al Smith used to say, let's look at the record.

England has gone in for socialism in a big way. And what has happened? Once a great coal exporting nation, she can now hardly produce enough for her own needs. Her electric power industry has gone downhill and rates are higher than under private ownership. Her whole socialized economy is as shaky as a tree in a storm.

Russia, of course, has gone whole hog in its version of a "people's government," to own or control all productive activity, and only a miserable minimum of consumer goods is produced. Her retail stores—all of which belong to the state—are stocked with only a few necessities and even these are strictly rationed. Prices, measured by average earning power, are far higher than in this country.

"Backward America," on the other hand, still clings to representative government and a capitalistic economy. The "tragic" results of this are seen on every hand—the most efficient industries on earth, the highest standards of living in the world in spite of inflation, more leisure and opportunity for all, retail stores groaning with every kind of commodity, and a competitive system which has to please the people or go out of business—no "take it or leave it" system.

The socialists have a sad story. It just doesn't make sense. And yet they are working here to have government monopolies supplant private enterprise. Will we fall for it?

Defense Secretary James Forrestal has asked President Truman to ease Navy Secretary Sullivan out of his job. Burned up because Sullivan has hotly opposed him on defense needs, Forrestal was burned again when Truman bluntly refused his demand, saying he needed Sullivan's New England friends too much in the forthcoming campaign.

No Famine Here Or in Future Dire Predictions

Every now and then news items appear to the effect that meat production is declining. And this in turn, is picked up by extremists who dolefully predict meat "famines" by a given date. As an example, some of the Washington crepe-hangers seemed sure that such a famine would appear by last May Day.

May Day came and went, and there was no meat famine—there wasn't even a shortage, in spite of the fact that the packing industry was plagued by a strike. That was just one more example of the way industry is geared to meet the nation's needs, and to deal with developments as they occur.

For 1948 as a whole, Federally-inspected meat production will be under 1947. But it will be about 15 percent above the prewar average. Production is not and cannot be constant from month to month. During the third quarter, for instance, there is always a decrease, for seasonal reasons. The packers handle that by storing meat to release during periods when receipts are light. It's like the old story about strawberry jam. The jam is made in the spring when the crop comes into bearing. But people eat the jam all the year round.

Going farther, at the present time it looks as if there will be a decrease in well-finished cattle from the corn belt states. But cattle of other grades, such as Commercial, will be available in adequate supply. On top of that, a step-up in hog marketings recently occurred and has helped to improve the meat situation as a whole.

Meat is a complicated business, and some of the fears of famine are based on a lack of understanding of how it works. But talk of serious shortages just doesn't make sense. According to the industry's experts, your butcher will continue to have plenty to offer.

FACT FABLE

Once upon a time there was a woman very active in social affairs, and she found it useful to join the largest church in her city. But she didn't find the time to attend church very often—only on Christmas and Easter Sundays. Finally this woman passed away, and when she knocked at The Gate, St. Peter said: "Are you sure you're at the right place? You didn't go to church very often on the Earth."

She sobbed, "Well, I always went on Christmas and Easter."

"Very well," replied St. Peter. "You can spend two days in Heaven and the rest of the year in the other place."

Moral: You can't go in two directions at the same time.

Federal Mediation Service Director Cyrus Ching wants to quit. Ching has asked Truman to find a successor for him quickly. He reminded the President that his promised year of service is up and Ching would like to leave now while signs for labor peace are pretty good.

HOMEMAKING PROGRAM FULL SUMMER SWING AT W.T. HIGH

Homework, group work and recreation are all a part of the summer homemaker program at W.T. high school for the month of June.

The eleven girls enrolled are carrying a variety of home responsibilities; such as, clothing construction, gardening, planning, preparing and serving family meals and interior and exterior improvement. Several home responsibilities are carried on simultaneously by each girl. This creates the need for good planning. The sponsor, Mrs. Mary Ann Duke, visits the girls in their homes and assists with planning and carrying out the plan of work.

On Friday June 18, the girls engaged in the summer program met in the homemaker department at West Texas State for an all-day workshop. Improvements in the nursery school were started. Curtains are being made, chairs painted, as well as other minor repairs being made. Following the workshop, the group went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Amason for a backyard supper and slumber party.

Those present included Joyce Dodson, Ruby Lee Bonds, Carolyn Shugart, Dorothy Carter, Dora Ann Amason, Betty McGehee, Mrs. Barbara Dutton and the sponsor, Mrs. Mary Ann Duke.

TEXAS PRESS MEETING

The Newsman attended the 69th annual convention of the Texas Press Association at San Antonio Friday and Saturday. We have not been attending this association meeting regularly in recent years, but attended this year because of the very attractive program, and to help as far as possible with the new organization which has been set up for the newspapers of Texas.

The Texas Press Association serves 696 newspapers in Texas. A full time manager has been employed. He is Vernon T. Sanford, who served the Oklahoma Press Association so well for 13 years. The office is being moved from Dallas to Austin because of cramped housing conditions in Dallas.

The association honored several Panhandle newspaper men in this session. Van W. Stewart of the Ochiltree County Herald, Perryton, was elected vice president, and therefore will be president of the big organization in 1950.

Deck Wells of Wellington retired as secretary after 8 years of hard, faithful service to the organization. His paper, the Wellington Leader, won first place in the soil conservation contest.

The McLean News and the Morton Tribune won places in the advertising contests.

Prof. Olin Hinkle of Canyon and Austin was in charge of the contests, and was highly complimented by his work.

David M. Warren of the Panhandle Herald was chairman of the nominating committee.

The attendance at the convention was larger than usual, and the interest was very fine throughout the convention. Your Newsman was in charge of part of the weekly newspaper clinic Saturday morning. In spite of the fact that air sickness down on the trip to San Antonio, we hope that we represented the fine newspapers of the Panhandle in an acceptable manner. Yes, we hope.

Down at San Antonio we heard a newspaper man from Wisconsin talk on classified advertising. He publishes a weekly newspaper in a town of 2700 population. His newspaper carries two pages of classified ads weekly. On that page every lawyer, doctor and dentist in his county carries a regular classified advertisement. We called his attention to the fact that the legislature of Texas would make criminals of such professions should they dare advertise their services in Texas. Why? Because they are all so ethical (?) In every session of the legislature some other profession tries to eliminate competition by getting a law passed to eliminate advertising. Is that progress? Maybe so, but we doubt it. Furthermore, every tax-spending agency in Wisconsin (and about 35 other states) are required by law to publish financial statements. In progressive Texas taxing agencies hide their expenditures under a bushel, and no one knows where the money goes.

Federal authorities have finally caught up with J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture of Texas. J. E. has been thumbing his nose at the Democratic party of Texas for 18 years, but the people re-elected him. He has an opponent again this year, whom we shall support, not that we know his virtues, but because we have known McDonald since our legislative days. Mac has been indicted by a federal grand jury for failing to register as a lobbyist. He brushes off the indictment with a grimace. Federal courts can get tough, and maybe old Mac will not be so cocky when he gets through with this case. At any rate, the case calls for close observation before passing guilt on the defendant.

Well the Republicans are at it in Philadelphia this week. By the time you read this page GOP will probably be struggling to select a party leader. GOP feels sure that this convention will name the next president of the United States during this week. GOP is sure that no Democrat can whip their man in November. All of which remains to be seen. Perhaps the revolt in the Democratic ranks against the President is giving these fellows a false sense of security. All of which leads us to this conclusion: That the Republicans do have a good chance to win, if an able, capable man is selected, since the Democrats must of necessity bear the responsibility of all the mistakes of the war. And the mistakes of any war are always numerous.

While all America is hopeful that we will not be throwing away the billions of rehabilitation money which Congress has appropriated for Europe, we are lead to question some of the statements by our leaders. The President and Secretary Marshall, joined by Senator Vandenberg made the positive statement that the sum set up under the Marshall plan was the one and only amount that would do for European relief. Those who have attempted to work out budgets for schools, churches, business enterprises, or even for their homes are amazed. None of us can budget even a few thousand dollars to cover all expenses that may come up. How can these fellows say that they can budget several billion dollars, which will be scattered among millions of people, with such potential accuracy? It can't be done?

A man who knows Casio March well remarked the other day: "If you want to see March duck the issue, just ask him how long he was in combat service when he starts bragging about his war record." This fellow went on to say that March was in combat only about 30 minutes. That may be true, and March may be playing on the sympathies of his listeners as he talks about the war. Our observation is that 30 seconds in combat cost the lives of many men. But we do think that March and Roger Q. Evans are stooping pretty low to make their so-called war records an issue in this campaign.

We asked several newspaper publishers from various parts of Texas how many votes Henry Wallace would receive in their various counties in November. The uniform reply was that his support at the present time is confined to a few crackpots in their communities, and the rabid laborites. The more substantial labor leaders are for Truman, and the substantial citizens will support the President for a second term simply for fear of what the Republicans will do to Texas if GOP names its man.

We heard something the other day at the Texas Press Association convention. Why do all applications for radio stations in Texas have to be approved by Lyndon Johnson? We do not know whether this is a fact, since we have not applied for one of the things, and hope that we shall never do so. But a political observer stated frankly that this is the case, and that practically all radio stations in Texas are supporting Johnson. Politics have such funny angles that we are unable to keep up with all of them.

Randall county had no last minute candidates. The list is now complete and the candidates will be around to see you in the near future. It is good sign of clean politics when we have so many candidates for public office. Give them a cordial hearing, and then vote as you please.

Herbert Hoover, former President, is advising with the group of House leaders that has sought to cut down on the amount of Marshall Plan aid promised to Europe. Mr. Hoover is described as interested in the political fortunes of Joseph Martin, House Speaker.

Thomas Dewey, New York Governor, is not unacceptable to the so-called "nationalists" in the Republican Party, in spite of his emphasis upon international co-operation. Mr. Dewey is said to be less firmly committed on foreign-policy issues than some other candidates.

Senator Robert Taft is in a position where he can deal with Harold Stassen for No. 2 place on a Taft ticket. If the Stassen drive for the nomination has an early setback in the Convention, if Senator Taft could get the Stassen delegates and a few more from favorite-son delegations, the nomination could be his.

Paul Hoffman, in charge of administering billions of aid to Europe, is not yet discouraged over the complications in his job but is ready to admit that working for the Government is more complicated than running a big company in private industry. Mr. Hoffman finds what other businessmen have found: that it is much more difficult to deal with a board of directors of 531 members in public office—Congress—than with a private board of 10 or 12.

Vyacheslav Molotov, Russia's Foreign Minister, is quoted by Senator Arthur Vandenberg, Republican sponsor of the Marshall Plan, as having told the French several months ago that the U.S. would be long on promises of financial help but short on fulfillment of those promises. The Russians are getting set to call attention to their earlier prediction.

Justice William O. Douglas still is cool to the idea of taking second place on a Truman ticket, although the White House is pressing him to step from the Supreme Court to make the race. Mr. Truman is worried more about the New Deal wing of his party than about the conservative Southern wing and would like a vice-presidential candidate who would appeal to old-time New Dealers.

Governor Earl Warren of California is the man who is most sought after as vice-presidential nominee on the Republican ticket. Mr. Warren, however, apparently would be uninterested in second place on anything except a Vandenberg ticket.

Moreover, at present lumber quotations, passing wooden nickels would be unbusinesslike.

Gen. Lucius Clay, U.S. Military Governor for Germany, and Maj. Gen. William H. Draper, Jr., Under Secretary of the Army, had most to say about terms of the new agreement for rebuilding Western Germany. The U.S. Department of State, which had different ideas about what to do about Germany was on the outside looking in.

Love affairs of men in public life, real or imagined, are beginning to be turned out by the rumor factories now that the political season is warming up. The initial stories are built around women from abroad.

President Truman is having more, not less, trouble will the local leaders of the Democratic Party as a result of his cross-country trip. Mr. Truman is balking at political advice from party wheel horses and is insisting upon making his own plans for nomination and election.

President Truman's experience on the road convinces him that the 1948 campaign should be a front-porch campaign conducted from Washington rather than a barnstorming campaign of the type that President Franklin Roosevelt enjoyed conducting.

Honeymoon for the Marshall Plan is not lasting long in Argentina, which hopes to sell $1,000,000,000 worth of food to Europe at U.S. expense. Argentina's press is screaming "Yankee imperialism" at reports that U.S. won't let Europe use aid dollars to buy Argentine wheat at $3 a bushel.

Guys always seem a little frightened when they find out I'm a model. Some boys are not themselves. They try to put on a big front. They always tell how wonderful they are—people they've met, places they've been. They try to impress. Instead of being themselves—Yvonne Guilmette, Brooklyn model.

Some of the newspapers are calling them Dixiecrats. Truman's version is Democrats.

Voice America Comes in Blast Over the Nation

The current furor over the State Department's "Voice of America" radio broadcasts is the most serious the program has become involved in so far. For a long while a sizable minority in Congress has doubted if the broadcasts can do any good. At one time it looked as if either House or Senate might refuse to vote the necessary appropriations to keep the program going. It was saved by Secretary Marshall, who made a strong plea in which he said it was an important adjunct to our foreign policy.

"Voice of America" is beamed by directional radio to a long list of foreign countries in their languages. The broadcast which recently aroused anger in Congress seems to have been extraordinarily critical of this country, at least in part. It was in the form of a travelogue, in which two men journeyed through various states and discussed what was going on. Heavy stress, apparently, was laid on real or alleged racial and other inequalities. The author of the script said that taking isolated lines from the context did it an injustice, and that anyone who listened to all of it would get a favorable opinion of the United States. Whether that is true or not, it looks as if division of responsibility is a very weak link in the "Voice of America" chain. The State Department does not prepare the scripts, but has that done by a broadcasting company. No one in authority, apparently, checks them before they are released. In the recent controversy, everyone passed the buck to someone else.

Regardless of what has happened in practice, however, the theory back of "Voice of America" is interesting. The basic plan was to put out entertaining and informative programs that would give foreign listeners—particularly those behind the iron curtain—a more accurate idea of American life and thought than can be gained from their own newspapers and radio, most of which are government controlled. The idea was to reach the rank and file of people, and to show them, among other things, that America is peaceable, sympathetic with their problems, and eager to cooperate in solving the world's ills. No one knows how many foreign listeners have actually heard the broadcasts. In some countries, notably the Soviet Union, where people caught listening to foreign broadcasts may find themselves in serious difficulty, the number is undoubtedly small. Even so, the programs advocates say, it has been a positive and growing influence.

The future of "Voice of America" remains to be seen. Within the United States, a number of non-governmental activities are being carried out to give Americans themselves a clearer idea of the superiority of the capitalist over the socialist and communist systems. There is no end of authoritative information of this kind, but much of it is in long and scholarly monographs which are not widely read. More and more thought is being given to reaching the people with ideas and facts which can be quickly assimilated and easily remembered. The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, as an example, has put out a series of charts called "Magic of America" which have been received with much more enthusiasm than was expected. The charts are largely factual in character, and are devoted to the difference in living standards between capitalist America, communist Russia and socialist Britain. The average wage earner, it is pointed out, could buy six pairs of shoes with a week's earnings, while in Russia his counterpart gets enough for only one shoe. Again, in America an hour's work will pay for six quarts of milk, while in Russia it will buy but a third of one quart. And, despite our housing shortage, we have an average of 410 square feet per person as against Ivan's 40.

These, and many other comparable works, are all part of the war of ideas, which is a relatively new thing in the world. The basic conflicts between nations today are ideological. That is why totalitarian governments always take over the press and the radio as a first step in cementing their authority, and eliminate all criticism, no matter how mild. The Russians, for instance, are very proud of the fact that their newspapers have had an astonishing growth in circulation in the last eight or ten years. One leading paper actually said that this was an example of "real" freedom of the press—which consists of putting Soviet propaganda into every story!

One of the basic weaknesses in the communist system is, of course, this inability to stand criticism. The Soviet leaders are afraid that their people will be contaminated by western ideas and knowledge of western ways of living. It is reliably reported that returning Russian soldiers who have had close contact with British and Americans are forced to take indoctrination training, during which the virtues of communism and the sins of capitalism are pumped into them ad nauseum. Then, when the soldiers are released to go home, they are watched carefully to make sure they are free of subversive ideas.

We live in an age in which thoughts are weapons no less than guns. Whatever one may think of the capitalist system, it is the only one in being which has never made an effort to stop criticism, and the only one which lives amicably with a free press and a free radio.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur didn't give all his reasons for refusing to return home to testify before the Senate Appropriations Committee. According to friends here, MacArthur is convinced Japanese Communists would try to disrupt the occupation if he were to return voluntarily. If ordered to return, the general would be free of all blame for the foul-up.

German Occupation Chief Gen. Lucius Clay has joined forces with ECA boss Paul Hoffman in the latter's internal quarrel with roving Ambassador Averell Harriman. Clay has informed Army Chief of Staff Omar Bradley and old friend George Marshall that he will retire if Harriman interferes with present occupation policies, approved by Hoffman.

Red-faced air force commanders are trying to squelch an internal scandal involving former War Secretary Harry Woodring. The charge: Favor-seeking offices allowed Woodring to send 50-lb. bags of coffee to Germany to sell in U.S. Government barter centers on Army Transport Command planes under priorities heretofore granted only to iron lungs caskets and crucially needed drugs.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation has full knowledge of the Communist Party's plans to go underground if the Mundt bill suppressing communism is ever passed. Complete details down to dismantling Communist clubs, disposing of typewriters and mimeographing machines have been lifted by the FBI agents from top orders for Operation Underground.

Just before he took off on his western trip, Harry Truman confided aboard the presidential yacht Williamsburg that the only Republican aspirant for his job whom he really feared was Sen. Arthur Vandenberg. He didn't have one political issue on which to fight the Michigan Senator.

Railroad officials should now agree on one thing: Money is the route of all evil.

Shrews Sought In Malaria Fight

Rare Jungle Mammal Seen
As Aid in Long Fight
To Cure Disease.

WASHINGTON.—As another step in its long campaign to effect a cure for malaria, the navy is going hunting in African jungles for a giant jumping shrew.

This rare specimen, which will be used as a laboratory aid in the malaria fight, has a body somewhat resembling a rat's, but it also has a long, elephantine snout and can hop around like a kangaroo.

It's a "giant" only as far as shrews go—about six inches long. The run-of-the-brush shrew is only mouse-length.

The navy wants to investigate a report that the African mammal has malaria naturally. If that is so, the jumping shrew would be one of the very few mammals, other than man, subject to the disease.

Phase of Major Study.

The search will be only one phase of a year-long study of tropical diseases in Africa. The navy's six-man safari, headed by Comdr. J. M. Amberson of the medical corps, constitutes the medical research unit of a broader expedition sponsored by University of California.

Research to find a truly curative drug for malaria has been hampered by the fact that no completely satisfactory laboratory creature has been found. The most commonly used subject is the canary, but the form of malaria which birds get is far different from that in human beings.

The only two mammals—other than man—which the navy knows to be subject to malaria are monkeys and vampire bats. The malaria parasites which cause the disease in these animals are also different from those which affect man. Nevertheless, these animals have been used to some extent because they are mammals.

Monkeys Are Unsatisfactory.

Both monkeys and bats have proved unsatisfactory for final discovery of a cure, says Capt. James J. Sapero of the navy's bureau of medicine and surgery. Also, monkeys are expensive and bat colonies are difficult to maintain.

Sapero said that if it is confirmed that the jumping shrew can acquire malaria naturally, it might be possible to take blood samples from the shrew and pass on the infection to some easily procurable animal, such as the guinea pig, rat or mouse.

Shrews are related to moles and hedgehogs, but these jumpers are not true shrews. They are found on rocky, bushy slopes in most parts of Africa south of the Sahara.

One scientist said he didn't quite know how the name "shrew" popped into the language as a tag for a vexatious woman. He said Shakespeare, in his "Taming of the Shrew," may have had in mind a small European variety of shrew which makes a squeaking noise. Encyclopedia Britannica describes a pigmy shrew found in Europe and Asia which is "pugnacious and very voracious."

Common Cold Germ Isolated; Protective Vaccine Possible

WASHINGTON.—A long-sought objective of science—laboratory isolation and growth of a "common cold" germ—has been achieved by two researchers of National Institute of Health.

The development, which opens the way to the "possibility" of producing a protective vaccine against this germ, was announced by Drs. Norman Topping and Leon T. Atlas.

The research was aided by prisoners of the District of Columbia's Lawton reformatory who volunteered to contract experimental colds.

Starting with material taken from the nose of another scientist who was stricken with a natural cold, the doctors said they were able to grow in the fluid of fertile hens' eggs an "agent" which produced a characteristic cold in 57 of 60 prisoner volunteers inoculated with it.

Dr. Topping said the cold produced was a prevalent type—a "thick, severe form"—something like what we know as sinusitis.

"It's not the runny nose, runny eye sort of cold," he added. "Maybe there's another agent that produces that kind of cold."

The researchers said the exact nature of the germ they had correlated was not yet known. It is presumed to be a virus.

Demand for Penny Increases; Mint Assures Ample Supply

PHILADELPHIA.—The lowly penny is more in demand than ever what with odd-cent prices, sales taxes, slot machines and the like, but the U. S. mint assures there are coppers enough to fill all needs.

Supt. Edwin H. Dressel says: "We have more one-cent pieces than the nation can handle and we're now making about 250,000 daily."

He adds there are 97,786,000 pennies in the vaults.

In 1946, the mint here coined 991,655,000 pennies. In the first 10 months of 1947, the total was 171,880,000 "and we're not getting rid of all those," Dressel said.

CO-OP DELUXE

CONTROLLED: QUALITY — PRICE — CONSTRUCTION

Here is an outstanding tire selected by Co-op for its exceptional value—it has extra stopping power because of its 6,340 saw tooth edges on the tread. It is one of America's most modern tires because of its broad, flat tread that puts more rubber to work to share the wear and adds miles of safe, dependable service. The Co-op Deluxe features greater strength through the strong construction resulting from cords insulated and bonded in liquid latex. It runs cooler, another great protection against blowouts.

Ex-Drinker Who Lost Millions Aids Alcoholics

BRIDGETON, N. J.—Back in the 1920s, J. Robley Tucker, Camden, N. J., drank away the 10 million dollar real estate fortune which he had amassed at the age of 25 and which had earned him the label, in newspapers and magazines, of "the boy wizard of real estate."

In the next 10 years, unable to hold even a Works Progress Administration grass-cutting job, he peddled stockings and razor blades to get money for 10-cent whisky and flophouse lodgings. In 1937 he sobered up.

"I realized finally," he says now, "I had two choices—slow suicide or salvage."

Now the choice he made is paying off—not only for the soft-spoken, blue-eyed real estate broker, back in business on a modest scale, but for scores of other men and women in this area who are waging the fight against alcohol which he himself managed to win.

Trustees Supervise

A board of trustees composed of church officials, business men and civic leaders will take over a 22 room home here called Ivy Manor, which Tucker founded two years ago as a non-profit institution for alcoholics and where he has since succeeded in "drying out" at least 150 of the 200 addicts who have come there. The home, ironically, was built in 1800 by a wealthy liquor distiller.

Tucker came to Camden in 1919 with an army discharge and 89 cents. After selling newspapers and clerking in a law office, he foresaw the potentialities of southern New Jersey real estate as a result of the proposed Camden-Philadelphia highway bridge. Cashing a $100 soldier's bonus and withdrawing $27 savings from the bank, he went into business. His first commission was not cash but a live pig. But by 1922, through astute choice of options and good bargaining, he had $25,000.

Business Skyrockets

In October, 1925, his firm—with a staff of 600 and offices in New York, Boston, Chicago, Miami and half a dozen other cities—did 16 million dollars worth of straight real estate business. By the year's end, business topped 50 million dollars.

Tucker recalls that he read the annual report and went on a week-long spree. He had been drinking in increasing quantities, but this was the beginning of the end. Rumors spread; within a year word passed that Bob Tucker was going broke. He tried to stem the rumors, once staging a $100,000 week-end in New York for more than 1,000 acquaintances. But the banks began to close in, and his fortune soon dwindled.

Town Constable Protects Duck From Curious Boys

LODI, WIS.—Susie, a duck, is under police guard.

Village Constable Bill Breuning recently spotted a duck egg in an ornamental concrete basket on a bridge which spans Spring creek in the center of town. As he watched, a duck flew up.

Villagers became interested and named the duck "Susie." They cheered as she produced nine more eggs. Each day larger crowds gathered at the bridge. Then the residents decided to have Constable Breuning guard the nest and shoo away curious boys who might disturb it.

The constable estimated that Susie's brood will hatch in about 27 days. Engle Knerzer, a crack rifleman, has promised to take over when the ducklings arrive to guard them from turtles or snakes.

Missed by Shotgun Blast, Man Welcomes Jail Cell

ST. JOSEPH, MO.—Edward Buckner is beginning a year's stay in jail.

But Buckner is a lucky man, lucky to be in one piece even if he is in jail.

He was convicted of common assault on a woman and was granted a stay on condition he remain away from her.

He broke his promise. And she fired a shotgun at him at close range.

She missed. But Buckner went to jail.

Candidate Files Campaign Expense Account: Ten Cents

NEILLSVILLE, WIS. — Election expense reports on file in the city clerk's office here showed that, of the 14 candidates for city offices, only Leo Foster was a spendthrift. He spent 10c.

An unsuccessful candidate for mayor, Foster slapped down a dime for two cups of coffee at the Lewerenz sweet shop. They were quaffed by Millard Cole, a mortician, and Lewis Bradbury, retired. "That's the only campaigning I did," Foster said.

It apparently was not enough. Mayor Henry Naedler won re-election.

The other 13 candidates for mayor, supervisor, alderman, city clerk, treasurer and assessor didn't spend a cent, City Clerk John C. Brandt said.

Baptist Students Attend Annual Ridgecrest Meet

During the days between June 9-16 an annual Southwide Baptist Student Assembly was held at Ridgecrest, North Carolina. Representatives of West Texas State College traveled to North Carolina on a chartered bus with groups from Texas Tech at Lubbock, Wayland College at Plainview and Amarillo Junior College.

The ten attending from W.T. were: Miss Eula V. Potter, student secretary; Mrs. T. H. Knighton, sponsor; Naomi Adkisson, Dayton Morris, Lila Lill, Ruth Lill, Frances Gooch, Opal Pegram, Jean McManigal and Ann Crawford.

The theme for the session was "For Such an Hour", which signified the challenge to youth for responsibility in this needy and chaotic world. Four of the main speakers were Dr. C. Oscar Johnson, president of the Baptist World Alliance; Dr. Walter Judd, Congressman from Minnesota and former medical missionary to China; Charles Wells, New York cartoonist and journalist; and Dr. R. G. Lee, president of the Southern Baptist Convention.

About 3000 persons were registered for the Baptist Student Assembly, coming from nineteen southern states and six foreign countries. There were approximately 500 Texans attending.

The group from the Panhandle left Sunday, June 6. They visited the Hermitage, Andrew Jackson's home, near Nashville, Tenn. They also made a tour of the Vanderbilt Estate near Biltmore, N. C. A more southern route was taken for the trip home, which required three and one half days. The group visited ten states on their Ridgecrest trip, which was an experience of inspiration, education and fellowship.

DeMille Asks For Right to Work in Nation

Twelve labor leaders could bring this nation to a standstill "in just half an hour," said Cecil B. DeMille, motion picture producer and director, in testifying before the House Labor Committee, which is reviewing labor laws. He urged laws guaranteeing "the right to work." He is the central figure in a four-year-old dispute with the union over his refusal to pay a one dollar political assessment for which he was suspended by the American Federation of Radio Artists. Since then, Mr. DeMille has not been allowed to work on the air for any employer.

Mr. DeMille urged the Committee, the witness said: "We have seen the danger to the right to work from employers, but the unions have now broken that, and . . . the pendulum has swung the other way . . . the unions have gone too far."

Mr. DeMille urged the Committee to consider a law declaring a "fundamental right to work," and stated a Constitutional amendment might be necessary to guarantee it. He blamed both labor and management for "battering" at man's right to work when and where he pleased. "A Federal right-to-work law backed up by stiff criminal penalties and substantial civil damages would go far to clarify the just limits of the right to strike and discourage use of goon tactics on American citizens who want to exercise their right to work."

Leo Durocher, Dodger manager, wrote a magazine piece about "Nice Guys Finish Last." Well, the Dodgers are last now, and Connie Mack's "nice guys" are just about tops.—Matthew Warren, radio commentator.

"Profits Mean Progress" is the title of a 48-page booklet prepared by the International Harvester Co. for its employees and others interested in problems confronting business today. It tells why profits are essential to industry and by illustrations and charts clears up confusion about prices, the relation of sales to profits, old and new break-even points and why profits today mean more jobs tomorrow.

23 new companies, formed since the war, are trying to edge into the passenger car field. Most plan small, light, short-wheelbase cars to sell under $1,000. Their biggest hurdle, after design and financing: Americans prefer second-hand conventional cars to midgets when prices are comparable.

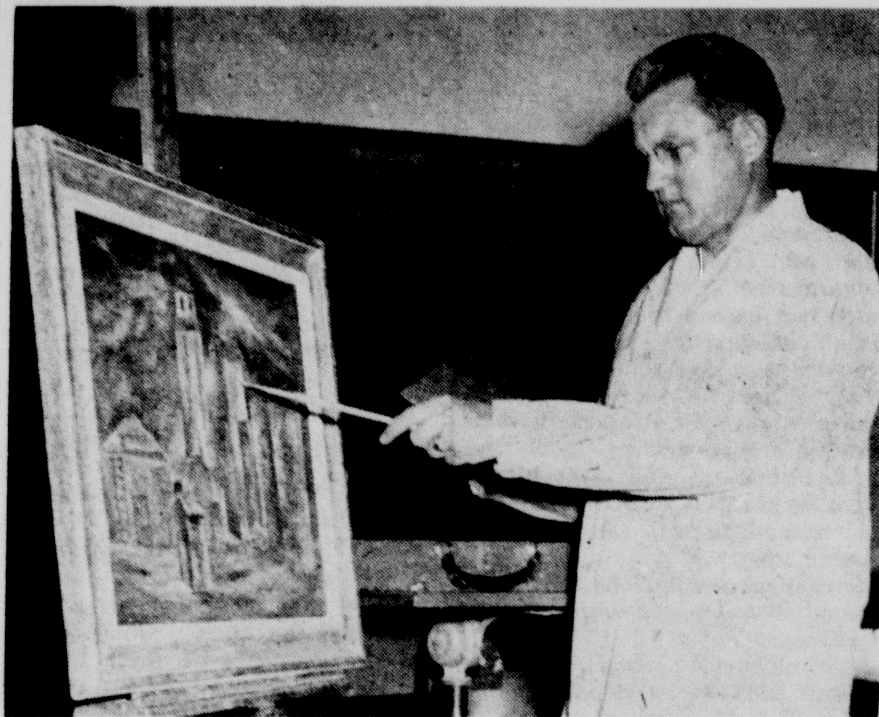

Nickels, dimes and quarters to be taken this year from booth telephones by the A. T. & T. would, if stacked, reach 3,000 miles into the sky. This estimate is based on last year's take when 300,000 booths (2 billion calls; 1.5% of the system's phones) produced $150 million, about 7% of the company's total billing.

New York resident buyers are warning dealers: (1) Don't expect to sell top price lines to the same extent as two or three years ago; (2) order early at least 65% of women's apparel needs in medium-priced quality goods for fall. Stores and departments which get deliveries late will find it hard to sell them at full price.

Latin American coffee producers have jumped their self-imposed tax from 2 cents to 10 cents per 132-pound bag. The $2 million raised will finance a campaign to encourage Americans to drink more coffee. With it, growers hope to raise U.S. consumption 50% to 30 million bags a year.

A store improvement program is offered by the Phillips-Jones Corp., New York, (Van Heusen shirts), to men's wear retailers. Plan provides store fronts, showcases and fixtures at cost with savings up to 50%.

Athlete's Foot Is Common Disease In Summer Months

"Few, if any, people have escaped the inconvenience and the annoyance of athlete's foot. It is said to be the third most common skin disease of the summer, and, contrary to popular opinion, the fifth most prevalent disorder in the winter."

So says Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer, in a recent press release. Dr. Cox explains that athlete's foot is due to a small mold-like growth or fungus which thrives on moist, warm parts of the body such as the feet.

"The infection of athlete's foot is usually gotten directly or indirectly from someone else," Dr. Cox says, cautioning that the most likely places to contract the infection are around bath houses, locker rooms, and other public places where people go barefoot.

"It is probable that at least one-half of all adults suffer from the infection at some time."

In suggesting some effective measures to be taken to prevent initial cases and avoid recurrent attacks of the disease, Dr. Cox emphasized drying carefully between the toes; use of a mild alcoholic solution on these areas after drying; liberal applications of talcum powder in the socks and the shoes; and wearing socks that are absorbent but not coarse.

"Ill fitting shoes are often the source of athlete's foot, Dr. Cox warns. 'Shoes that rub and chafe should be corrected or discarded.'"

Tourist courts of the motel type with carpets, electricity, bed lights, insulation and radios are big business in the Midwest, Southwest, Northwest and in parts of the East. Multiplying rapidly in spite of high construction costs, their peak volume seems years ahead. Motorists drive miles out of their way to patronize them instead of hotels. Reasons: More privacy, auto at the door, lower rates, and no tipping.

The U. S. peanut industry may be hard hit within a few years by foreign competition. To relieve an acute world shortage of fats and oils, the British and French are opening up vast territories for peanut culture—half a million acres in French West and Equatorial Africa and a quarter million by the British in East Africa.

The steel industry sees no chance of topping last year's peacetime production record unless a coal strike is averted. The last strike cost 1.6 million tons of raw steel and brought the total loss by strikes since early 1946 to 20 million tons.

Maybe Russia hasn't pulled its horns in, but it certainly has slowed down its horn-ins.

'I Now Declare the Convention Open!'

Who Profits From Strikes Is the Question

The house organ of a Tennessee Coal Company recently ran this little piece under the heading, Stray Thoughts: "The coal industry has just had a long, costly strike. The employees of our mines have lost several hundred thousand dollars. Our country will suffer in many directions from shortages and higher prices. We have, due to the strike, given our customers terrible service. We have earned distrust of us and our product as a fuel."

"Strange as it may sound . . . we do not know and never have known the reason for the strike. The operators paid the money and had no further authority. Nothing was gained except to show the enormous power of John L. Lewis."

There, in words that anyone can understand, is the plain, unvarnished truth. The fact that the strike is over for the time being must not be allowed to obscure the real issue that it raised. That issue is this: One man has a dictator's power over the economic life of the nation—over its defense program, its vital foreign aid policy, the welfare and prosperity of its people, the jobs of its workers, and the prestige of its government. That is not an exaggeration. Coal is the cornerstone of our economic system. Let its production be long enough prevented, and the whole machine must come to a stop.

The welfare of organized labor itself depends on ending this power. And if labor will not do that—if it continues to accept and applaud the excesses of its leaders—the people must act through their government. Senator Ball has suggested that industry-wide bargaining, whereby a whole industry may be shut down overnight at the whim of a labor czar, be outlawed. That may be the only solution.

The sharp postwar growth of new businesses is at an end in some industries—including clay, stone and glass manufacture. Firms making leather goods have declined in number during recent months. Car dealers, furniture stores and service industries continue to gain.

Within 10 years we shall have nearly 6 million children for whom no schooling will be available.—Mrs. L. L. Hughes, president, National Congress of Parents & Teachers.

Museum Receives New Addition to Hamlin Collection

Recently received by the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum are some more items in the Judge James D. Hamlin collection.

One of the most outstanding articles in this latest addition is a marble bust of the Duke of Wellington. This bust was made from life, about 1840. A marble pedestal is included with the bust.

Also received is a large collection of Navajo and Zuni Indian jewelry. Included are bracelets, necklaces, and rings.

Several works of art are in this new addition of Judge Hamlin's collection. There are several oil paintings, a crayon sketch, a charcoal portrait, and a Balinese woodcarving.

A mahogany kit contains a full set of ivory-handled, silver mounted knives and forks from about 1790. With them are several silver spoons that are somewhat older and are Hallmarked.

Thirty-six Oriental rings are included in the collection. These are of ivory and semi-precious stones.

A small Chippendale mahogany book rack, on a stand with a drawer, was also received. It dates from about 1765.

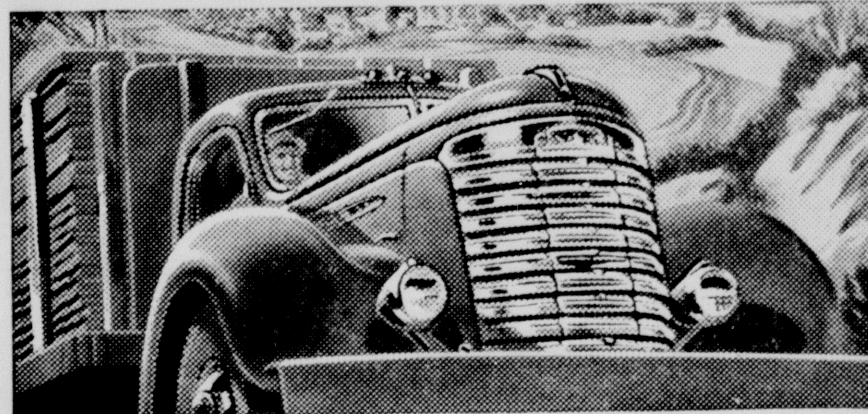

Another important item in the new collection is an antique Sheffield candelabra, from about 1790.

The Judge James D. Hamlin collection already in the museum contains a large number of items of a various nature. Outstanding among these is a collection of various articles from the Orient and a ten-piece dining-room suite that once belonged to Leopold I, King of Hungary and Bohemia and Emperor of the Holy Roman Empire from 1658 to 1705.

Electric power for making aluminum will be produced by use of natural gas in the new Point Comfort, Tex., plant of the Aluminum Co. of America. Alcoa president Roy A. Hunt calls this an example of how private companies can help overcome the power shortage, now "an obstacle to national progress."
